Section VII

WARNING PRESERVATION OF ANTIQUITIES. Persons coming on the Reservation are cautioned that HUNTING OF FALLOWHEADS AND ARTIFACTS IS PROHIBITED and violators will be subject to prosecution.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that these lands form part of a Federally owned and controlled Indian Reservation. Any person or persons who damage or destroy, without specific authority from the Assistant Secretary of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, excavate or appropriate any historic or prehistoric ruin, monument, case or other natural curiosity, or object of antiquity or of scientific interest, will be subject to arrest and punishment under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 9, 1906.

Fishermen unfamiliar with the wilderness should secure the services of a local licensed Indian guide and/or outfitter. Fishermen must notify the Tribal Fish and Game Department when securing the services of a local, licensed Indian guide and/or outfitter. Persons fishing on the Reservation are cautioned to abide by all the rules, regulations and laws of the Wind River Indian Reservation applicable thereon.

"All Non-Indians, Non-Enrolled Indians and Indians from other tribes are prohibited from utilizing horses and other livestock in the back country, and other areas of the Reservation, except when utilizing professional services of an Outfitter licensed by the Tribes".

A replacement for a lost license may be issued from the Reservation Fish and Game Office, Fort Washakie, Wyoming 82514. Upon payment of $5.00 and after the Department has been furnished an affidavit signed by the original agent, a duplicate will be issued.

BEFORE ENTERING PRIVATE LAND OR FENCED LANDS TO FISH, PERMISSION MUST BE SECURED FROM THE OWNER OR OCCUPANT OF THE LAND.

The right is reserved to close any of the fishing areas to permit-fishing in order to protect the area from fire or OTHER REASONS. Public notice of such damage will be given prior to closing when possible. In emergency, closing will be immediate and without notice. These fishing regulations do not apply to the enrolled members of the Shoshone and Arapaho Tribes. All other permits not covered in these regulations must be obtained from the Wind River Inter-Tribal Council. These regulations are subject to change by the Shoshone and Arapaho Business Councils yearly.

Violators will be prosecuted.

TOURIST INFORMATION

The Wind River Indian Reservation, covering a vast 2,268,000 acres is the home of two Tribes, with 11,914 enrolled members. There are 8,177 enrolled Arapaho and 3,737 enrolled Shoshones. There are 1,888,000 acres of private Indian owned land. The Reservation is rich in oil, gas, and agricultural resources. A vast wilderness area covers some 180,387 acres. This area, plus lower lying land along the Big Wind River and its tributaries provides some of the best fishing in Wyoming. Members of the Tribes receive monthly dividend payments, from oil and gas bonus bids, leasing of Tribal lands, for grazing and other uses. The total yearly income is 85% distributed, 15% held in the U.S. Treasury in reserve for Tribal Operations.

The Fish and Game is located at #15 North Fork Rd., Fort Washakie, WY. Office is open to the General Public Monday thru Friday from 8:00 am to 4:00 pm.

Management of fish and wildlife and recreation on the Reservation is controlled by the Wind River Inter-Tribal Council through their Fish and Game Department. Technical advice and assistance is provided by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, with the branch office in Lander, Wyoming. The Tribes and Fish and Wildlife Service cooperate in protection and enhancement of fish and wildlife habitat. Emphasis is placed on management of high mountain lakes (primarily in the 180,387 acre roadless area) and Bull Lake, Dinwoody Lakes, and Ray Lake. Fish plants of native cutthroat, golden, rainbow, brook, brown and lake trout are made when needed in waters either lacking or with insufficient natural reproduction.

Over 1,109 miles of streams and some 265 lakes provide the fishermen with a multitude of fishing experiences. Predominant fish species caught are brown, rainbow, brook, lake and cutthroat trout. Some of the world's finest golden trout fishing can be experienced in the remote back country. Complete information is available from the Fish and Game Office, at Fort Washakie.

During July and August, the two Tribes hold Sun Dance ceremonies. In June, at Fort Washakie, the Shoshone have Indian Days, and an All-Indian rodeo with many dances, games and a parade. A pow-wow is also held at Big Wind Hall, Crowheart, Wyoming. The Arapaho have two pow-wows during the summer, with contest dancing, games and a parade. One at Ethete in July and one at Arapaho in August.

KNOW THESE ATTRACTIONS:

The graves of Sacajawea, Shoshone girl guide and heroine of the Lewis and Clark Expedition and of the great Shoshone Leader, Chief Washakie are near Fort Washakie. Arapaho Chief Black Coal is buried near St. Stephen's Mission.

Whirling disease, a potentially fatal illness of trout, has been found in Wyoming.

We need your help to prevent its spread.

The tiny parasite that causes the trout illness can survive within live fish, dead fish, and in water and riverbed mud. It can even survive dry mud.

YOU CAN HELP PROTECT

YOUR FISHERIES

AQUATIC NUISANCE SPECIES

Every water body is a unique ecological system. A fish, aquatic plant, or other aquatic life form that inhabits one stream or lake may cause problems in another. When a new organism arrives it may upset the delicate balance of the system causing ecological or economic harm. The common carp, New Zealand mudsnail, and the whirling disease parasite are well known examples of invasive species that can reduce the quality of Wyoming's fisheries.

There are many harmful plants, fish, amphibians, crustaceans, mollusks, diseases, and parasites, some so small they can travel with you without you even being aware. However, there are simple, precautionary steps you can take every time you leave any body of water to lessen the chance you'll be moving any of them:

- ▶ Remove all visible mud, plants, fish, or other animals from equipment
- ▶ Eliminate water from all equipment before you depart
- ▶ Clean and dry anything that came in contact with the water
- ▶ Do not release plants, fish, or other animals into a body of water unless they came out of that water body

Back Country Visitors:

Be AWARE THIS IS BEAR COUNTRY

- * Bears are unpredictable and dangerous
- * Dogs Antagonize bears – leash your pet.
- * Odors attract bears
 - Store food in closed vehicle or hang at least 10 feet up and 5 feet out on a tree branch or between trees.
 - Do not cook or eat in sleeping area.
 - Dispose of garbage immediately (do not bury it)

Adhering to these guidelines will ensure you and future travelers can camp safely.
